I doubt you need me to tell you that life can be overwhelmingly busy. We feel pressure from many areas of life: to be more productive at work, to get more exercise, to be a better spouse/parent/child, to do more for the church, to maintain some sort of social life, and to somehow find a spare moment to breathe!

As our "to-do" lists become longer with each day, our "done" list seems to shrink! Will we get it all done in time? Our concerns quickly compound into a storm of worry. We have so many responsibilities, but so little seems to really be in our control—how could we not be anxious?

Sadly, often the only thing that slows us down is the passing of a loved one. In our society, we even try to rush through the grieving process. Funerals are conducted rapidly, and it feels like we are being told to "move on."

Busyness, worry, and grief—does the Lord have a word for us regarding these pressing realities? Is it possible to find time for our spiritual life in the midst of the chaos? Can we really find some freedom from the worries of life? And above all, how can we possibly find peace when we are stricken with grief?

One of the things that makes Christianity unique is that we believe God is capable of far more than simply providing helpful advice from a distance. We believe that God actually has experienced the very struggles we face in the person of Jesus of Nazareth (Heb 2:14-18; 4:14-16). He knows firsthand what it is like to face the giants of busyness, worry, and grief. He knows more than just the right answers; he knows precisely how it feels to face these challenges.

Jesus came to provide a better afterlife, but also a better life—that we "might have life and have it abundantly" (Jn 10:10). This does not mean we will not have challenges; it does mean that we can access a strength, peace, and joy that runs deeper than even the darkest night.

THURSDAY NIGHT BIBLE STUDY

Have you ever wondered how Paul, a man who had endured so much trial and opposition, could have possessed the attitude expressed in Philippians 4:11- "...for I have learned in whatever state I am, to be content"? Is such an attitude something that can be ours? There are so many things in life that seek to rob us of our joy, and we can't help but wonder if it is possible to be truly be content. But Paul, despite the upheavals he faced in his earthly journey, always had a peace of mind. How did he maintain that sense of tranquility? Note what he said in Philippians 4:11- I have learned... Indeed, our lives as well can be ruled by the same sense of satisfaction if we will take the time to "learn" what the apostle did. As we resume our small group Thursday night Bible study on August 15, we'll be looking at scripture and making life applications of those things the Lord declared would contribute to our being content- no matter our lot in life. The study is entitled, "The Road to Contentment: Learning How to Travel It to the End," and if you would like to have a copy of the study guide, please see Richard.

Stressed Out?

When was the last time you were stressed out? How did the stress affect you? Stress can affect our body, our mood, and our behavior. Stress can make us feel tired, angry, overwhelmed, or it may make us want to seclude ourselves. It also can affect our spiritual walk with God. We get so focused on our situation that is bothering us that we don't focus on God.

In Matthew 6:25-34 Jesus is delivering His sermon on the mount and he is talking to people who are dealing with stress and anxiety. He tells them, "Therefore I tell you, do not be anxious about your life, what you will eat or what you will drink, nor about your body, what you will put on". Is not life more than food, and the body more than clothing? Look at the birds of the air: they neither sow nor reap nor gather into barns, and yet your heavenly Father feeds them. Are you not of more value than they?

When Jesus is telling the people not to be anxious, He reminds them of God's presence. That's something we need to do. We need to remember God's presence and how He has provided for us. What are the things that God has done for you?

The next thing that Jesus tells the people is in verse 33 and He says, "But seek first the kingdom of God and his righteousness, and all these things will be added to you." Seeking is active. It means doing something. When we are stressed and anxious, we need to search for opportunities to serve God and bless others.

The next time that you are becoming stressed and anxious take some time to remember how God has provided for you and then go and search for opportunities to bring the love of God to those around you.

Scott

Lesson 32

Sermon on the Mount

Sunday, August 11- Wednesday, August 28

Memory Verse:

"So whatever you wish that others would do to you, do also to them."

Matthew 7:12

For the next several weeks, we will discuss a portion of Jesus's teachings we know as the "Sermon on the Mount." We will talk about the Beatitudes and what it means to be the salt of the earth.

We are so glad that you are here with us today. Our service today will be to praise and worship our God and to encourage and uplift us to face another week in this world. We will sing and pray. We will meet around the Lord's Table to remember what our Savior did for us so long ago. We will give of the many blessings that God has given us to do the work He has given us. We will have a lesson from His Word that will hopefully be applicable to your daily life.

If you are a visitor, please fill out a visitor's card so we can have a record of your time with us. Ask any of our family members where you can get one of these cards. If there is anything, we can do to help you then please let us know.
