Read The Whole Bible In 2022!

Unless you are the exception to the statistics, odds are you are already beginning to waver on your "New Year's Resolutions"...and we are only nine days into this year. Sometimes we set ourselves up for failure by resolving to be essentially perfect—to go from having an "all you can eat" diet to trying to lose weight every day. In reality, we will go on being imperfect in 2022 just as we were in 2021.

But that doesn't mean we can't grow, and it certainly doesn't mean we should resign ourselves to spiritual stagnation or drifting. And one of the best things we can do for our spiritual growth in 2022 is to spend more time in God's Word.

Now, if you're like me you've probably set out to read the Bible in a year before. If you're like me, you've probably failed that resolution before! I hope that at some point in your life you have read the Bible through, from cover to cover. After all, it is the truth of the Scriptures upon which our faith rests...it would seem pretty important, then, to have read them completely. But even if you haven't, I want to invite you to think about setting the goal of reading the whole Bible this year. If you don't set that particular goal, I hope you will at least consider setting a goal for spending regular time in God's word this year.

I'm going to make it my goal to read the Bible completely in a different way than I normally have read it based on a plan I saw that was shared by Wes McAdams. I'm going to try to read roughly one entire book each week. A few books will be combined, but you get the idea. I'm going to try to read the book in as few sittings as possible, preferably in one sitting. If you're interested in doing the same, let me know! You can find the plan written out at: radicallychristian.com/a-new-sort-of-bible-reading-plan.

This week I started with Genesis. It took me less than three hours to complete the book! It is a great experience to sit down and listen to the Scriptures, focusing on the main themes and listening to the Holy Spirit's masterfully crafted message. It's the way the original audience of Scripture regularly consumed Scripture. Plus, I enjoy the flexibility of knowing that my plan isn't "over" if I miss a day or even if I miss a week. The way the plan is laid out, it can actually be accomplished in only 39 weeks so there's plenty of margin. The goal is not to master a checklist but to read the whole Bible...why don't you join me (and Sarah) in that journey this year?

Staying in Touch with YOUTH

Car Theft and the Stealing of Your Soul

In the year 2020, the most stolen car in America was not a luxury sports' car or some fancy smancy SUV; no, it was the F150 pickup truck (particularly the 2006 model) made by Ford! Why this model? Experts just aren't sure, but they do offer advice as to how we can prevent our beloved vehicle from being kidnapped. They advise the following: don't leave your keys in the car, always lock the doors, park in a well-lit area, and use some type of anti-theft device. Of course, if someone is determined to steal a car, it won't matter what one does to prevent it.

We now know what car is stolen the most, but what thing is number one when targeted for thievery in the world? Jesus once asked, "For what will it profit a man if he gains the whole world, and loses his own soul? (Mk. 8:37), thus indicating there is nothing on earth that compares in value to that part of us that will exist throughout eternity. Satan knows its value, and that is why he is like a sneaky thief trying to see what he can do to rob us of this precious possession (1 Pet. 5:8)! He continually tries to con us with temptation and trial, promising us great things (Gen. 3:1-5) by way of enticement so that we will let our guard down. As soon as we do, he "snatches" our peace and joy in the Lord, which in turn, puts our soul in jeopardy due to sin. Therefore, we must diligently follow the admonition of Proverbs 4:23- Guard your heart with all diligence, for out of it spring the issues of life." If we know what the devil wants, we can be on the lookout to prevent his heist of our soul (cf. Eph. 4:27).

Lesson 4

Jacob, Esau, Leah, & Rachel

Memory Verse:

"I know the plans I have for you, declares the Lord."
Jeremiah 29:11

In this lesson, your child will learn about two brothers named Jacob and Esau. These brothers were very different. The children will learn all about the brothers and their story of who inherited the birthright. They will also learn about the dream of Jacob's ladder. The children will also learn the children of Jacob.
